HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

A Waitress Is A Waitress

Dear Helen: I'm one of those cocktail waitresses — not topless — who is ready to blow her top. I took this job because I thought it paid more, and, besides, my husband can take care of the kids while I work — and we need all the money we can make right now.

Well, the tips aren't as big as you might think, believe me! And the guff we have to take! I've learned to sidestep the pinches and pats (never turn your back on a drunk), and smile at stupid jokes, and field propositions, but the practical jokers get me down. Like heating up the tips tray over the candle till it burns your fingers and then laughing like crazy when you let go and drop the money all over the floor. Or making pyramids out of glasses. Or putting the tip under a full glass, turned upside down, so when you lift it up all the liquid spills out. (It's done with paper napkins.)

Liquor brings out the fool in men and the meanness in women and I'm here to tell you we waitresses earn all we get.

This probably won't change those "funnymen" but if a few of them read it, maybe they'll at least know that SOMEBODY isn't laughing! — Hot Tips Not Wanted

Dear HTNW: I hope so! Practical jokers are always unfunny, but drunk practical jokers — should have their "hot tips" dropped down their necks. — H.

Dear Helen: Speaking of waitresses, we're about the only class left that hasn't had our names "upgraded." A janitor is now a "custodial engineer"; the stockroom boy where my son works is the "production services assistant"; graders are "landscape engineers" or "technicians"; and, of course, we all know about the "sanitary engineer," and the "chef." A smart cleaning woman calls herself a "home specialist."

Where's another name for the "waitress"? — Forgotten Group

Dear Group: Good question: Suggestions, anyone? All I can think of is "hostess." — H.

Which Came First, The Husband Or The Nerves?

Dear Helen: What would you do with a husband who has been so mean and cruel that I am now under doctor's care for my nerves? — Sick Of Him

Dear Helen: I have to go to the doctor every week to be treated for nervous condition, due to my husband. He has treated me like a dog. . . — M.K.

Dear Helen: My husband caused me to have a near nervous breakdown and I have to doctor constantly for my nerves. . . — Hopeless

Dear Readers: For the past year I have been keeping a special file on "Unhappy Wives." Other day I checked through the letters and discovered about three fourths of these gals had one statement in common: "I am under doctor's care for my nerves."

They assume their no-count husbands caused this condition, but I sometimes suspicion their "nerves" might have been there all the time, contributing to their men's no-count condition. If males wrote to me in the same quantities as females, we might wonder which came first, the husband or the nerves? Marriage failure isn't always the fault of ONE worthless mate. More often it happens when two fairly decent but "deaf and blind" people back away at each other until there's nothing left but raw edges. — H.

Cat Law

Bitten by her neighbor's Angora cat, a woman filed suit for damages. She based her claim on two points: 1) that the neighbor owned the cat, and 2) that the cat had been trespassing in her back yard.

But the court held that neither ground was enough to support the woman's claim. The court said ownership alone does not mean liability for a cat's mischief, since it so seldom commits any. As for the trespassing, the court said cats are given freedom to roam—and to cross boundary lines—by common consent of mankind.

As a rule, a cat's victim can collect damages only by showing some previous vicious conduct by the cat. Such conduct puts the owner on notice that his pet is dangerous.

For example:

A shopper, accompanied by her dog, entered a market. The proprietor's cat, which had recently had kittens, promptly tore into the dog. When the woman tried to protect her dog, she herself was mauled by the cat.

In this case the woman did collect. The court pointed out that a cat with kittens is likely to attack a dog, that customers often brought dogs to the market, and that another customer had been attacked earlier in the same manner. Under these circumstances, the court decided the cat was indeed dangerous and should have been restrained.

However, a minor show of temper will not put the owner on notice that he has a feline menace on his hands. Thus another woman, bitten by a cat, was denied damages because the only prior misconduct she could prove was that the cat had once shown his teeth and snagged a girl's stocking.

In short, in view of the generally good record of the species, the law is tolerant of a cat's natural tendencies. And, in that same spirit, the law looks with favor on efforts to be kind to cats.

One woman left money in her will to establish a "cattery" for homeless cats. Although the bequest was challenged as useless to the community, a court upheld it as a valid charitable trust. In the words of one judge:

"A gift for the benefit of animals tends to encourage kindness toward them, promote feelings of humanity and morality generally, repress brutality, and thus elevate the human race."

No Budging in Union Shop Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today goes into its second week of the union shop battle with neither side ready to budge from its position.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said his only plan for now was to keep before the Senate his motion to bring up the bill which would repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act. That section authorizes states to outlaw union shop contracts.

Mansfield got an agreement for the Senate to convene two hours earlier than its usual noon meeting after a wrangle with the bill's opponents at a Saturday session. Because of the timing, Senate committees scheduled no hearings for the day.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said his forces would maintain their filibuster which has prevented a vote even on the preliminary motion to bring the bill before the Senate.

Dirksen said a break in the stalemate could come when the Armed Services Committee sends to the Senate floor an authorization bill in support of President Johnson's request for an additional $12.3 billion for the Vietnamese war.

At that point, he said he would demand to know whether repeal of section 14B took precedence over the needs of U.S. troops in Viet Nam.

he would "face up to that decision" when the authorization bill is ready.

The Senate Armed Services group is to hear Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara again Tuesday on the authorization measure. Committee aides said it could be approved and sent to the floor later in the week, although this is not certain.

Foes of the repeal bill estimated they had enough speakers lined up to keep the filibuster going for several weeks, if necessary, against even the motion to make it the Senate's pending business.

Before the fight began a week ago today, Mansfield made it clear he felt that at some point he probably would have to try to shut off the filibuster with a cloture petition.

Such a move failed last October in the first Senate floor battle over the measure. Not even the most optimistic supporter of the repealer contends that his side has the necessary two-thirds to invoke cloture at this time.

A union shop contract requires all employees covered to business in the House this week join a union.

The only significant floor business in the House this week is a Wednesday vote on contempt of Congress citations against seven witnesses described by the Committee on Un-American Activities as officers of the Ku Klux Klan.

All declined to produce records which the committee said it was entitled to have in its probe of the Klan.

Humane Raids Find Sick Dogs

EASTON, Md. (AP) — State police, accompanied by a national Humane Society official, raided the farmyard of Clifford Hughes at Goldsboro, Md., and said they discovered 128 dogs — many of them sick or undernourished.

A number of dead dogs and cats were discovered Tuesday behind a barn, not far from the pen which contained live animals.

Hughes, who called himself the unofficial dogcatcher of Caroline County, was free on $450 bond today on nine charges of cruelty to animals.

Capt. Thomas S. Smith of the state police investigative division said the yard the dogs ran in resembled a pig sty. He said the sick and underfed dogs had to be left there, however, because there was no place to take them.

The Humane Society official, Frank McMahon, director of field services, called conditions "extremely bad" and said some of the dogs were bloody and injured, apparently from fights among themselves.

Smith said that Hughes, a farmer and slaughterhouse employee, brought entrails from where he worked to feed the dogs. He said Hughes told him that he buys, sells and trades dogs besides acting as unofficial dogcatcher.

The raid on the farm near the Delaware line was the second, led by Smith and McMahon in two weeks.

Last week 100 dogs were discovered at a junk yard near White Hall, Md., near the Pennsylvania line.

The owner of the junk yard, Lester J. Brown, was charged with 29 counts of cruelty to animals.

In the 136 years from 1819 to 1955, more than 40 million aliens entered the United States, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Showdown Battle in Conference

A showdown battle is set for Tuesday night at Lubbock when Texas Christian and Texas Tech, both deadlocked in second place, meet in a crucial Southwest Conference basketball game.

Both teams have 3-1 records and the winner will be in a position to challenge Texas A&M for the conference lead. The Aggies are unbeaten in five conference games.

If the Horned Frogs come out victorious Tuesday night it will set up a second showdown as they tangle with the Aggies on their home court Saturday afternoon in a regional television game.

If Texas Tech can win Tuesday night, they will have a chance to pad their mark as they play Texas, 1-4, at Lubbock Saturday night.

Only two conference games were played last week. Texas Tech raced past Rice 108-80 at Houston Saturday. Texas Christian's press baffled Southern Methodist Saturday night as the Horned Frogs defeated the Mustangs 98-89 at Dallas.

Three conference teams lost to the ambitious Houston Cougars last week. The Cougars clawed Baylor 92-91, TCU 100-79, and A&M 97-85.

The Arkansas Razorbacks played two non-conference foes and broke even as they beat Mississippi State 69-61 and lost to Georgia Tech 89-75.

Three games are scheduled Tuesday. They are Rice vs. Baylor at Waco, Texas Christian vs. Texas Tech at Lubbock, and Texas vs. Howard Payne at Brownwood.

Southern Methodist plays Arkansas at Fayetteville Wednesday night.

Two Saturday afternoon games will be played with A&M at TCU, and Baylor at Arkansas. Night games Saturday will be Rice at SMU and Texas at Texas Tech.

Milwaukee Files Antitrust Suit on Braves

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Milwaukee, the Cinderella of baseball who discovered her prince was footloose and, unfaithful, pressed today for an antitrust verdict against the National League before the Braves' scheduled opening day in Atlanta April 12.

Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette has asked Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller to move the trial date forward to no later than Feb. 21.

Roller ordered attorneys for the league and the Braves to appear at a court hearing today to present any arguments against an early trial.

The National League has announced Friday it would ignore Roller's court order that it be prepared to keep the Braves in Milwaukee this year and be prepared to expand beyond the present 10 teams should the judge hand down such an eventual verdict.

The owners voted unanimously to instruct the Braves to proceed with plans to play in Atlanta after 13 seasons in Milwaukee, the city they were once before blocked from abandoning by a court order.

"Open defiance," La Follette said of the league's action. "More harassment," League President Warren Giles said Sunday after the latest court hearing was set.

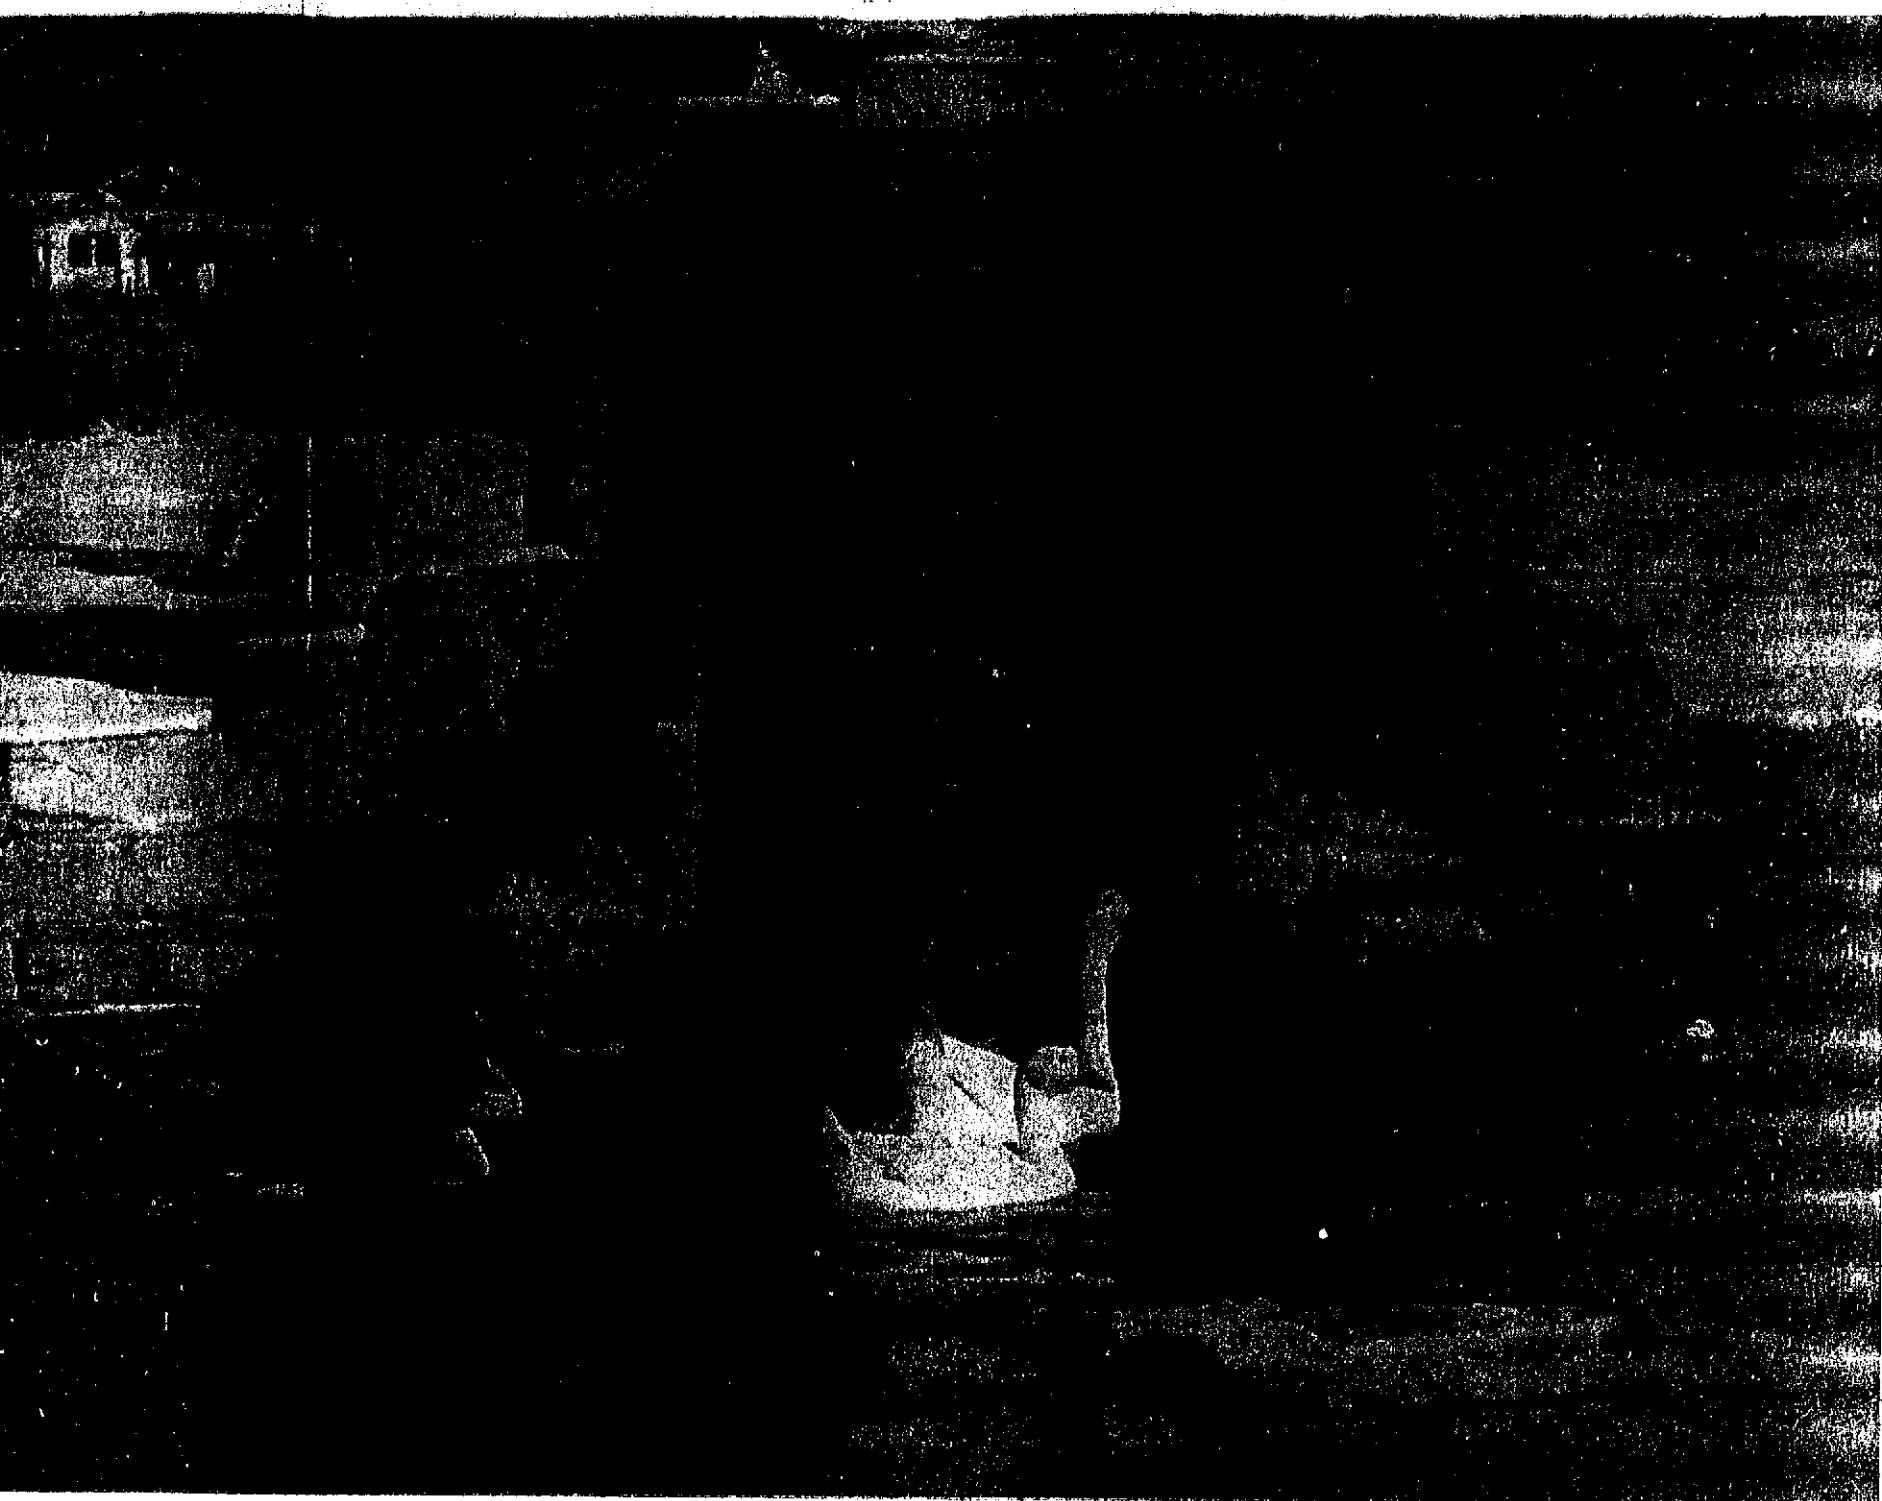

Roller handed down his court order for 1966 preparations Thursday. After listening to Braves' requests that the trial originally set for Feb. 1, be delayed until June 1, he issued a compromise ruling Friday that rescheduled the trial for March 7.

After the league's statement, La Follette asked Saturday that the date be moved forward again and Roller promptly signed an order summoning Braves' attorneys into court today.

The state antitrust suit contends baseball is a monopoly. It accuses the National League of a conspiracy to deprive Milwaukee of the business of baseball. The suit asks that either the Braves be required to remain in Milwaukee or the National League be ordered to grant the city a replacement franchise, probably through expansion.

The Braves are already under a temporary injunction issued by a Georgia court ordering them to honor their 25-year contract to play in Atlanta.

How's for Swim? They Just Love It in Zero Weather

BEHIND HIS HOUSE THE STAR'S EDITOR HAS A waterfall and a miniature game preserve where he keeps two Canadian Honkers, a dozen Mallard ducks, and two domestic white geese. Saturday there was ice on the waterfall — later that night the temperature dropped to 1 degree above zero — and all the livestock went for a swim.

"I wasn't unhappy with my third round because it left me still in the lead," commented Beard, who recovered from a case of sleeping sickness in 1964 and won $40,377 in 1965, but he obviously would have liked to have done even better.

Two NFL Pro Coaches Jump to Rival Loop

By MIKE RATHER

Associated Press Sports Writer
George Wilson and Wally Lemm, who lost their head coaching jobs in the National Football League under controversial circumstances, have jumped over to the rival American League and left the St. Louis Cardinals as the lone pro football team without a coach.

Wilson, who won the NFL championship with the 1957 Detroit Lions, severed a 29-year connection with the National League as a player and coach when he signed a three-year contract with the new Miami Dolphins of the AFL Saturday.

Wilson hopped leagues almost simultaneously with Lemm, who rejoined the Houston club he took to AFL championship in 1962. In so doing Lemm takes on the most precarious assignment in pro football, becoming the club's sixth coach in seven years.

The Wilson and Lemm hirings left only the Cardinals' job open. The AFL roster now is filled with Joel Collier having replaced Lou Saban at Buffalo, Lemm taking over for Bones Taylor at Houston and Wilson becoming Miami's first coach.

The NFL line-up has undergone four changes since the season ended with Otto Graham replacing Bill McPeak at Washington, George Allen succeeding Harlan Svare at Los Angeles, Bill Austin taking over for Mike Nixon at Pittsburgh and Norb Hecker becoming Atlanta's first coach.

Wilson compiled a 54-45-6 record at Detroit, including winning the NFL title in 1957, but became involved in an unusual set of circumstances after the 1964 season when owner William Clay Ford fired all of his assistants although offering Wilson a new contract.

Wilson, however, decided he would have trouble controlling his staff because of the situation and resigned. Last year he was with Washington as an assistant under McPeak and supposedly had been in line for the Redskins' job.

Lemm compiled a 27-26-3 record at St. Louis after joining the club in 1963 when he gave up the Houston job while Frank (Pop) Ivy, who had been with the Cardinals, went to the Oilers in an unofficial inter-league swap.

Lemm left his job with the Cardinals in a squabble with the owners, who said Lemm and the club had come to a mutual agreement to sever relations. Lemm, however, insisted he had been fired with 17 months remaining on his contract.

Mystery Illness Is Spreading

LONDON (AP) — "The illness is yet to come," said health officials as mysterious illness continues to spread through Britain, affecting tens of thousands of children.

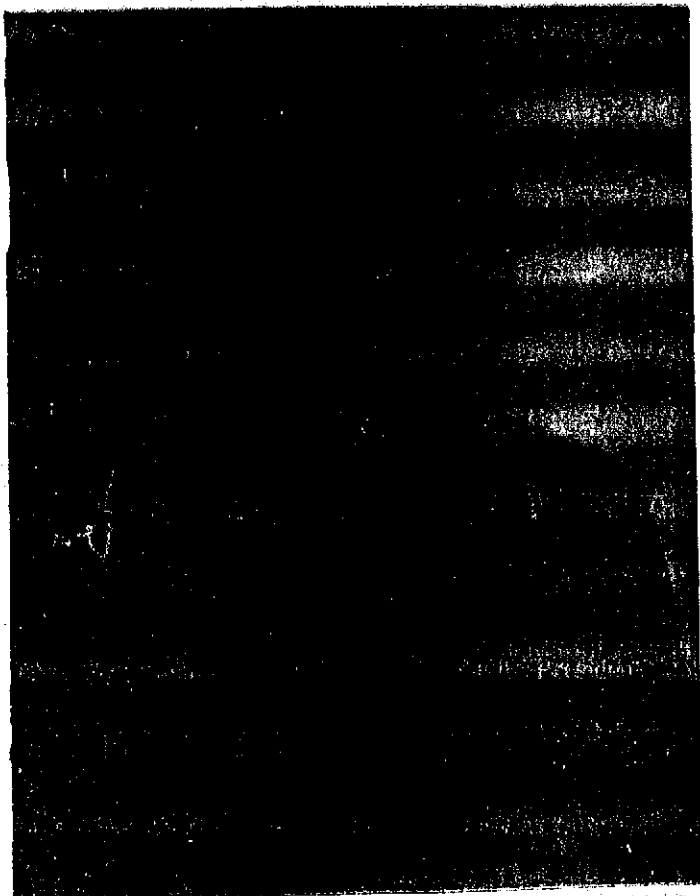

The ailment, apparently not a flu virus dubbed the "mild board bug," is believed to have caused two deaths in Scotland.

A Dundee health officer reported the death of a boy, nearly 2, from influenza pneumonia Thursday and added: "Although I am still waiting for the full report, the death of this child is very probably associated with the epidemic."

Another victim, Catherine Ford, 13, was sent home with the rest of her Lanarkshire class last Friday. At first her parents thought she had a cold. She died Tuesday.

The mystery illness strikes more than 4,000 children in Scotland and South Gloucestershire, England.

WASHINGTON — PENCIL CHEWING CHAIRMAN — This study of Chairman William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, was made as he questioned Secretary of State Dean Rusk. The secretary asked support for an emergency foreign aid supplement of $415 million, mostly for Viet Nam. Peak Strength for Military in Viet Nam

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military forces in Viet Nam are approaching the peak strength of Americans who fought in the Korean War and may top that total by the end of this year.
Shore in Viet Nam, according to the most recently announced official figures, are about 197,300 Army, Marine Corps, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard men.
But when other forces assigned to fight or support the Viet Nam war from other neighboring locations are added, the overall total runs up to about 313,000.
At peak strength, in mid-1953 as hostilities tapered to an end, the United States had about 472, 600 men deployed in Korea or conducting other from bases and waterways in the Pacific.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Defense Program subcommittee, predicted in a Jackson, Miss., speech that the end of the war in Viet Nam would not be surprised if ultimately 600,000 men were required.
Although President Johnson did not make specific predictions of manpower increases in his State of the Union and budget messages to Congress, he indicated that the American effort in Viet Nam may mount. He has said the United States will provide "whatever forces and equipment are needed."
Pentagon statisticians date U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war from 1954. At that time there were about 770 American military men in South Viet Nam serving only as advisers. Not until five years had

The forcing two bid is an integral part of standard American bidding and used by nearly all American bridge players. There is one glaring exception. The top players don't use it.

In the recent team trials 35 of the 36 pairs used weak two bids; the other pair used ACOL two bids. All 36 used the opening two clubs as an artificial forcing bid.

These experts have found that weak two bids are effective and that the artificial two club opening fully handles all forcing situations.

The basic feature of the weak two bid is that the opening bid of two in any suit except clubs shows a good six-card suit and a hand that is a trifle below an opening bid in high card strength.

Today's hand is an example of a good result for the weak two bid.

South opens with a weak two spade call. North has a nice hand but it is obvious to him that there is no game and he passes. South makes two spades right on the nose. He may even make an over-trick if the defense slips, but two spades is a safe contract.

Without the weak two bid South would pass. Maybe North would open the bidding and South might restrain himself and merely bid one and two spades, but the chances are that if North opened the bidding, South would get to three or four spades and go down. Or maybe North would simply pass and the hand could be passed out. In either case, the result would not be as good as attained by the weak two bid.

TV Nosedives

MANILA (AP) — American television shows have nosedived in popularity on local television stations, according to latest ratings.

Roger K. Davis, writing in the Manila Bulletin, said the drop in the popularity of American shows was due to the increased cost of American programs and to an upsurge of locally produced shows in Tagalog, the national language of the Philippines.

elapsed did the total of U.S. forces "in-country" reach the approximate 197,300 total. The 197,300 lines up this way: Army 126,000; Navy (ashore) 9,000; Marines 39,000; Air Force 23,000; Coast Guard 300.

To this in-country force should be added: about 70,000 aboard ships of the 7th Fleet which launches air strikes and provides shore bombardment; another 8,000 on the island of Guam from where B52 heavy bombers take off on tactical bombing strikes against Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam; about 30,000 in Okinawa where troops move in and out in support of the Viet Nam war; perhaps up to 15,000 U.S. personnel in Thailand who have a role in the Viet Nam war as well as helping strengthen the security of Thailand.

Happenings in World on Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The debate over whether to resume bombing North Viet Nam intensified.
There were these weekend developments:
President Johnson held a series of top-level strategy meetings.
Pope Paul VI proposed a new approach for settling the war.
The Senate was asked to withdraw its authorization for President Johnson's conduct of the conflict.
In the war-torn country itself, several thousand U.S. Marines went ashore south of Quang Ngai in what was described as the largest amphibious assault since Inchon in the Korean War.
A U.S. Army spokesman said that air cavalrymen have fought North Vietnamese regulars for the first time since last November's bloody Ia Drang Valley battle.
It was learned that Johnson, at the Saturday meetings, gave serious consideration to the proposal from Pope Paul that the United Nations mediate the war through neutral nations.
Johnson directed Secretary of State Dean Rusk and U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg to pursue the matter.

The Pope said Johnson's peace efforts since Christmas should be "written in history." He expressed the belief that the U.S. overtures to North Viet Nam were aimed at reasonable and honorable negotiations.
But President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam called Johnson's peace offers "an impudent threat."
Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., presented two resolutions aimed at withdrawing the Senate's broad authorization for President Johnson's conduct of the war and instituting an investigation of the U.S. role in that conflict.
The bombing pause entered its sixth week.
Residents of a wide area of the country had another problem — how to cope with some of winter's most wicked weather.
A blizzard swept northward up the Eastern Seaboard, striking hardest at the Middle-Atlantic States.
In Chicago, a federal court jury ended 40 hours of deliberations and found Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, an internationally known physiologist, and two others innocent of fraud and conspiracy charges in the promotion of the drug Krelon. The jury spent nine months hearing evidence in the case. The jury continued its deliberations in the case of Dr. Steven Durovic, the drug's discoverer. The government disputed the promoters' claim that

Our Thanks to Star's Subscribers and Advertisers

We knew that our luck with the new rotary offset press had been too good for mortal men - so of course the roof fell on The Star's crew with last Thursday's edition, which didn't get to press until Friday.

Because of the 12-page issue we sent the paper down an hour earlier Thursday, delivering the last plate to the press at 2 p.m. instead of 3. But the press didn't cooperate. By Friday noon we had 27 pages in plates stacked up in the pressroom - all of Thursday's and Friday's editions, and the early pages of Saturday's.

The trouble cleared up just after noon Friday - and we're rolling again.

Any automobile driver will understand our trouble when I explain that it was similar to a car's timing chain jumping a notch and throwing the engine "out of time." The five printing units of our Fairchild press are "timed" with notched industrial belts, so that the outside and inside pages of the newspaper come up to the folder in perfect alignment.

What happened Thursday was that the press got "out of time" and Page One was cut correctly in the folder but the inside pages were cut in half. For instance, the Society heading which should have been at the top of an inside page appeared in the middle of the page instead.

We were printing Thursday's paper on the two front units, which by this time are well worn in, and a third unit which was made only a few runs. What we didn't know was that the timing belts on the two broken units had stretched beyond the point where they could be satisfactorily tightened. This shouldn't happen, but it did.

The Fairchild factory advised us to de-commission the two front units until an expert could get down here and replace the belts, and to use the other three units in the meantime. Which is what we did - and got rolling again.

As we now are forewarned, this disaster shouldn't be repeated. You ask how this could possibly happen to a brand new and fabulously costly machine. Well, Fairchild doesn't make industrial belts. They buy 'em. And belts are a tricky item to manufacture to exact specifications. Correctly made, and seasoned with daily use, they ordinarily give little trouble. But starting off with a new machine you find you inherit all the errors made by some supplier who furnished them to the manufacturer of your equipment.

Your new automobile develops mechanical trouble. But the car manufacturers don't make the electrical components - they buy these assemblies, and the warranty falls back on the supplier, not the car manufacturer. You get a free replacement, of course, but that doesn't save you the trouble of being stranded in a "dead" automobile.

That's where we and the Fairchild press factory were Thursday - on a 19-hour day of frustration and confusion. We finally bailed out of our trouble - and Hope was a surprisingly friendly and understanding about it. Our thanks to all our subscribers and advertisers. The new offset system and press are superb, and the result is worth all the trouble we and the public have put to.

Meanwhile we are sending the paper down an hour earlier each day, cutting off the news at 1 p.m. instead of 2, getting the news to the press at 2 instead of 3 - until we are absolutely sure about the press. Once production is on schedule we will return to the 2 o'clock copy deadline, which accounts for 60 per cent of the 24-hour news.

New $300,000 Post Office and Federal Building Opens

THIS WAS THE SCENE SUNDAY AS LOCAL RESIDENTS HAD TO go to the new Post Office and Federal Building for their mail. The entire operation was moved from the old to the new building over the weekend in rain, sleet and snow and the bitterest cold in years.

Snow Piling Deep Along East Coast

Lashed by a storm piling up deep snow whipped by violent winds, the East Coast shuddered today in the icy grip of a record-breaking cold wave extending from Florida to Maine.

The blizzard, and extreme cold in other areas, contributed to at least 72 deaths from highway accidents, fires and heart attacks in 16 states.

The severe storm swept up the coast over the weekend, leaving cold behind and virtual cities of the populous Northeast, including the nation's capital.

Two states struck the hardest, Delaware and Virginia, declared a state of emergency. Two feet of snow fell in some parts of Virginia and National Guard units were ordered to help clear clogged highways in Delaware.

In northern and central Florida, the gigantic citrus crop was threatened by freezing temperatures.

Thousands of travelers were inconvenienced as airports in Washington, New York, Baltimore, Boston, Philadelphia and Montreal were "soaked in" by conditions that made take-offs and landings almost impossible on ice-caked runways.

Washington struggled under 16 inches of snow - the worst accumulation in the city in 44 years. The storm dumped 12 new inches of snow with four inches still on the ground from a storm a week ago.

Federal government and city employees in the capital were told to stay away from work in the morning except for emergencies. However, Congress was scheduled to meet.

More Families Leaving Cuba

HAVANA (AP) - More than 500 Americans and their Cuban families finally are to leave Cuba on a special airlift beginning Feb. 3, authoritative sources say.

The U.S. government will provide at least two planes each Saturday for four or five weeks for the flights to Miami from Varadero, a port about 75 miles east of Havana.

Many Americans have been waiting more than a year to leave. They say their plight was ignored by the United States for many months while arrangements were made for the Cuban refugee airlift, which has brought more than 6,000 Cubans to American in the past eight weeks.

Rotary Hears About U.S. Discovery

Edwin Stewart led the Hope Rotary Club in "Discovering the USA" last Friday with an article in "The Rotarian" magazine by a professional traveler from Spain. Through his eyes different parts of our land were viewed with the realization that most Europeans have a misconception of us. This is due, in part, the author said, to travelers abroad not acting the same as at home.

President Lester Sitzes welcomed a visiting Rotarian, George Peck of Texarkana, and another guest, Cecil Bittle, Jr. of Houma, La. A reminder was given of the Chamber of Commerce banquet February 4 and of the Rotary Ladies Night February 18.

Stresses Close U.S. Relations

TOKYO (AP) - Foreign Minister Eisusaburo Shiina stressed the importance of close relations with the United States today and urged Japan to "carry out faithfully its obligations" under the security treaty with America.

Shiina possibly was referring to visits by U.S. nuclear-powered ships to Japanese ports, which have brought leftist protests. The government has authorized these visits and recognizes they are a right of the United States under the security treaty.

The foreign minister told the Diet (Parliament): "We expect the United States to fulfill its duty, under the U.S.-Japan Security Treaty, to defend Japan, and we are convinced that it will do so."

Cold Spell Past, Could Be More

The worst of the state's bitter cold spell is past, but there's a hint of snow in the forecast.

After a weekend of freezing temperatures - below zero in some cities early Sunday - and snow up to a foot deep slightly warmer weather is the trend.

Don't look for any heat wave. The Weather Bureau said temperatures should get into the 30s today, but the abundant sunshine that melted ice and snow off many of the states' thoroughfares isn't expected.

More snow? The forecast says there's a chance of rain or snow tonight or Tuesday. The Weather Bureau had no guesses on whether there would be an accumulation if it did snow.

Roads slick with ice or snow were blamed in traffic accidents which took six lives in the state over the weekend.

State Police said late Sunday that most of the major roads were clear, except for a few spots.

Among the bone-chilling temperatures recorded Sunday were -7 at Fayetteville, -2 at Pine Bluff and 2 at Little Rock. Texarkana's Sunday morning minimum of 10 was one of the state's highest.

But sunshine pushed temperatures into the 20s by afternoon, some five to 15 degrees warmer than predicted. Texarkana had a maximum 31, while the coolest maximum - 22 - was shared by Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Fort Smith and Walnut Ridge.

Temperatures had already reached their low mark and were edging upward before dawn this morning, as clouds moved over.

Rain Is Normal

BOSTON (AP) - For the first time since December 1964, drought-plagued Massachusetts lived above normal precipitation for one month. The Weather Bureau said normal precipitation in Boston for the month of January is 3.94 inches. With a week still to go, and another storm expected before the end of the week, total precipitation already is 4.22 inches.

Fatalities in Arkansas Stand at 8

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Two teen-age brothers hunting along the snowy banks of a Poinsett County ditch Sunday spotted an overturned, ice-covered car with its crushed top beneath the water's frozen surface.

Authorities called to the scene found the bodies of three young Mississippi County residents - a couple and the wife's brother.

Of eight weekend traffic fatalities reported in Arkansas, six happened on slick roads produced by the winter's largest snow, authorities said.

State Trooper Bob Cooper said those in the overturned car were Paul Andrew George, 20, of near Osceola; his wife, Edith Rose George, 18, and her brother, Sidney Campbell Jr., 19, of Frenchmans Bayou.

The accident was at Spear Lake Ditch, about three miles east of Marked Tree.

Cooper said the car had to enter the ditch from a curve. He said it apparently skidded through a railing and plunged about 30 feet onto the frozen water, with the impact shattering the ice, opening the car's doors and crushing its top.

The victims, he said, were apparently not able to try to get out of the car, which was in about three feet of water.

Neither the cause of death nor the time of the accident had been determined, he said. The three were last seen alive at 8 Saturday morning, Cooper said.

Two Missourians were killed late Sunday in a two-car collision north of Russellville which authorities said was not caused by slick roads.

C. D. Collinson, 39, of Springfield, and his 12-year-old son, Allen, died in the accident about 10 miles from Russellville, State Trooper Jim Woolen said.

Woolen said a car driven by Roy Soman of Dover pulled from a side road onto Arkansas 7 and struck the Collinson car.

Mrs. Collinson, 37, was listed in fair condition at a Russellville hospital. Gayland LaRue, 20, of Dover, was seriously injured, Woolen said.

The other weekend fatalities occurred Saturday. Kenneth Bates, 37, of Texarkana, Tex., and Thomas Todd, 40, of Stilwell, Okla., were killed when their station wagon and a tractor-trailer collided near Malvern on U.S. 67.

David Roy Risher of Magdala was killed in a car-pickup truck accident at Waldo.

3 Acquitted in Chicago Drug Case

CHICAGO (AP) - The fourth and final verdict in the marathon fraud and conspiracy trial involving Krebiozen may depend on the health of a woman juror.

With three of the four defendants already acquitted, the U.S. District Court jury was deliberating the fate of Dr. Stevan Durovic, the developer of Krebiozen, Sunday afternoon.

Suddenly, juror Lois Clark, 40, suffered an asthma attack in the jury room. She was carried from the courthouse to her hotel room and placed under the care of a doctor.

Defense and prosecution lawyers scheduled a meeting today with Judge Julius J. Hoffman to hear a report on Mrs. Clark's condition.

If Mrs. Clark cannot continue with the jury, the deliberations could continue with 11 jurors, or a mistrial could be called.

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

Sunday morning at the new Hope Post Office the boys were having their problems and after what the crew of this newspaper has been through the past month, we can surely sympathize. And advice to them - most of the public doesn't realize the problems of others, however most of them will understand and would even be helpful if they could. Then there are those few who don't understand, wouldn't try and don't care about anything or anybody except their own little selfish selves. The latter you can't please and don't even try to. They just don't count. Back at the Post Office most of us were getting a kick out of opening the new drawers and kidding the boys about Mary Anita Laseter's column Saturday which said you didn't have to reach for your box any more. That's true, you don't have to reach but you surely have to stoop in some cases. And Post Master A. D. Brannan was testing the stamp machine which wasn't paying off right at all. One suggestion was that a Republican set it up. Anyway their problems will go on and on and slowly they will be ironed out. As we said, most of the public will be tolerant, the few others don't matter any way.

His wife and brother were working elsewhere in the shop and were not hurt. The bench was hurled several feet. Cohen was out looking for a hot plate. He, his wife and brother had decided to take a break and found there was nothing on which to heat the coffee.

Allied intelligence reports said the North Vietnamese made use of the bombing lull to rebuild roads, railways and bridges destroyed by U.S. planes in the past year. Aerial photographs revealed pontoon bridges strung across rivers, and heavy traffic has been spotted moving toward South Viet Nam over the past two weeks.

On the ground, the Viet Cong backed by regular North Vietnamese forces were goaded into action by Allied troops who have penetrated Communist hideouts in the central coastal plains which had not been disturbed for 15 years.

Operation Masher, the U.S. Cavalry's hedge-hopping push around Bong Son, about 300 miles northeast of Saigon, was heavily engaged for the fifth straight day in a firefight the Viet Cong used as a withdrawal act.

A storm of automatic fire and mortar shelling struck a battalion of troops at 6 a.m. and lasted for an hour. A spokesman said the Viet Cong used the barrage as cover to slip out of what could have been a death trap.

Exams Voids University

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) - The University of Miami has voided the results of a final examination that was riddled from a professor's office by one student and sent to others.

Dr. Armin H. Gropp, vice president for academic affairs, said Thursday the 1,600 students who took the exam will not be required to take another. Instead, the dean's council has ruled that semester grades in the natural science course will be based on previous exam grades.

Dr. William R. Butler, vice president for student affairs, said an official university probe indicates that a single student was responsible for stealing the material.

Butler said it is still not known how many students had access to the exam.
